

Note to parents/guardians regarding food allergy awareness:

If you have dietary concerns regarding food allergies or sensitivities, please contact your child's school cook manager. It is important to be aware that products and ingredients are frequently changing; therefore it is recommended that you routinely consult with your cook managers in the school kitchens where food labels are available for your review. Parents/guardians are welcome to review labels at the school their child attends to help ensure safety.

The Lakeville school district has a document addressing resource guidelines for supporting children with life threatening allergies, available on the district website, health service web page and student nutrition web page.
